THE OUTGOING.

Judge T. J. Lowe, who yesterday retired from the office of secretary of the territory, was one of the best officials this or any other territory ever had. Genial, whole-souled and obliging at all times he made friends of all who came in contact with him, careful and painstaking in the routine work of the office, upright and of unquestionable integrity, his administration of the affairs of the office has given the utmost satisfaction to both the government and the people.

He retires from the office with all the work up to date and everything in ship shape, bearing with him the esteem and best wishes of all citizens, irrespective of party, creed or locality. No fault has ever been found with his work, no complaint laid at the secretary's office during his incumbency. Should Oklahoma always fare as well in public officials as he has in him she would indeed be fortunate as has been no other territory or state.

THE INCOMING.

Hon. W. M. Jenkins, the newly installed secretary of Oklahoma territory, is a man of studious habits, of judicial trend of mind and integrity of character peculiarly fitted to discharge the duties of the office efficiently and satisfactorily. It is with pleasure that THE LEADER joins with the citizens of Guthrie, irrespective of party, in welcoming Mr. Jenkins to Guthrie and extending to him and his family the hospitality of the homes of the Capitol city.

He will find the people of Guthrie hospitable and open-hearted true friends and neighbors ready to uphold him in the discharge of his official duty.

Mr. Jenkins comes with highest commendation from his neighbors and fellow citizens elsewhere as a man, a citizen and an official and we bespeak for him the same respect and esteem from the people of Guthrie.

A CALL TO ARMS.

Every wheelman who wears knickerbockers and golf stockings should hasten to the front, for their inalienable rights have been abridged and their comfortable and picturesque costumes frowned upon by a judge upon the bench. Judge Monteverde, of the Newton, N. Y., court of special sessions has ruled the knickerbocker and sweater out of his court room. A wheelman named Caseman was summoned to serve as a juror. He stepped into the box clad in the costume of a wheelman, and was immediately fired out by the irate judge. "I am no crank," remarked Judge Monteverde, "and am not opposed to cycling, but just the same, there is such a thing as carrying golf trousers too far."

Judge Monteverde opined that because there was a number of women present at the trial, which was a church affair, it was not recheer for a gentleman to appear in golf costume. This may be true, but did his honor stop to ascertain if there were any shirt waists or short skirts present as a part of the wearing apparel of the fair ones? The time has come in this glorious land of liberty when a man has mighty little of it if he cannot wear knickerbockers in a court room. The right to wear knickerbockers is inalienable, and the only thing that can operate against the knicks is a pair of ill developed calves. Judge Monteverde has gone a little too far. The wheelmen will rise up in their might, and girding their knickerbockers around their waists, and giving their golf hose a half hitch, they will proceed to throw him down when he comes up for reelection.

The very idea of an ordinary judge of a court of special sessions presuming to cast reflections upon the knickerbockers of the land. It is a judicial usurpation that must not be tolerated. The right to wear knicks must be preserved at all hazards.

A New York state newspaper contains a communication from a correspondent who advances the remarkable theory that the building for the reception of immigrants on Ellis Island should not be made fireproof. He thinks that occasional fires in those buildings would be a good thing, as they would destroy the germs which accumulate there after years of usage. The microbes would certainly be destroyed, but that seems to be a very expensive way in which to get rid of them.

A Chicago man has invented a new fire escape, and in making a test of the machine the other day he attached himself to a wire and dropped safely from a height of sixteen stories. If the inventor could further utilize the product of his genius so as to meet the needs of the average Oklahoma politician, a great many hard falls might be avoided.

EX-QUEEN Liliuokalani becomes one of the new women of the United States.

Is prosperity to come via the Hawaiian islands? The administration seems to act as if it were.

A SYMPATHETIC exchange remarks that Queen Liliuokalani has been left out in the cold. The ex-Queen's happy condition excites a great deal of envy among those of us who have to work in this sweltering weather.

The good queen whose jubilee is being celebrated just now is credited with a wonderful faculty for thrift, and some of it appears to have been transmitted to her descendants. A grandson aged 11 wrote to her recently asking for a sovereign to replace one which he had spent. Instead of the desired money he received a long letter full of good advice and suggestions about the saving of money against a rainy day. In reply the prince wrote to his grandmother, thanking her for the long epistle and saying that he had just sold it for four pounds and ten shillings. Sentimental Tommy himself could not have done better than this.

MRS. LEASE ISSUES A DEFI.

She Emphatically Declines to Pay that Mortgage Balance.

Wichita, Kan., June 23.—The home of Mrs. Mary E. Lease in this city has been sold for a mortgage obligation of $1,438. The Jarvis-Cooking company bid the property in for $900, leaving a balance of $538 due, for which a judgment was secured against Mrs. Lease.

The local attorney for the mortgage company called upon Mrs. Lease yesterday and asked her to pay the debt remaining. Before he had finished the first sentence telling her his business the noted woman arose from her seat, advanced to the center of the room, and with her left hand resting on the family Bible that lay on the table, she said: "You have my home. You now want the pound of flesh. These mortgage companies are thieves and robbers and ought to be behind the bars. I have property and a fine income, but it will never go to pay the balance you claim." Throwing her head back, she raised her right hand, brought her fist down on the Bible and said: "I won't pay it—I defy you." Proceedings in aid of execution have been commenced. Mrs. Lease says she will go to jail before she will obey the order of any court to pay the debt.

FOR MISMANAGEMENT.

Receiver Seaman of a Kansas Bank Displaced for Bad Actions.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 23.—James Ashbaugh has been appointed receiver and J. W. Poor attorney for the Citizens' bank of Mound City to fill the vacancies caused by the removal of G. A. Seaman and James Snoddy. Seaman defied the state banking law by refusing to file a statement showing the condition of the bank of which he had charge. He also charged $2,500 for collecting and paying a dividend of $5,000. Bank Examiner Waterman said that he had never before found a bank in which a receiver had been guilty of such mismanagement and carelessness as was developed by the examination. Among other things Seaman permitted forty notes to become outlawed.

A Wheat Field in Ashes.

GREAT BESS, KAN., June 23.—While men were burning weeds near Ellingwood yesterday, with a "pint weed burner," two hundred acres of wheat belonging to William Hollman caught fire and were entirely consumed. The wheat was just ready for harvest, the estimated yield being 35 bushels per acre.

To Honor Nancy Hank's Memory.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 23.—Governor Mount has announced that a meeting is to be held in his office on Wednesday, June 26, of representatives of the Grand Army of the Republic, Loyal Legion and Women's Relief corps, to perfect plans for the erection of a monument and the care of the grave of Nancy Hank Lincoln, mother of Abraham Lincoln, in Spencer county, this state.

A Great Success.

"I am writing a play which cannot fail to be a great success," said Foy. "What is its chief feature?" "In the last act the comedian who has perpetrated all the chestnuts dies a miserable death."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

That "Rich, Meaty Taste."

Minneapolis, Mo., Messenger: A lady in this city, while cutting cabbage for a mess of cold slaw to be used at the Workman feed, last Wednesday, had the misfortune to cut the end of her finger off. We merely mention this fact so that those who attended the feed and partook of that cold slaw will know what gave it that rich, meaty taste. The end of the finger dropped off into the cabbage and was soon chopped up into such little bits that she couldn't find it.

REPUBLICANS IN A CLASH.

EXCITING DEBATE OVER THE WOOL SCHEDULE.

A SERIOUS DISAGREEMENT

Warm Personal Exchange Between Senators Carter, Foraker and Allison—Senator Vest Takes Particular Objectionable Features in the Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—An exciting debate marked the consideration of the wool schedule, which began in the Senate yesterday. It developed the first serious disagreement on the Republican side of the chamber, and led to a warm personal exchange between Senators Carter of Montana and Foraker of Ohio on one hand, and Mr. Allison of Iowa, in charge of the bill, on the other. Mr. Foraker asserted that an agreement concerning rates on certain wools was being violated, and that under such circumstances every senator would be free to act for himself. Mr. Allison, with great vehemence, declared that he could not be driven by threats. Mr. Carter, who had aroused the storm, endeavored to have the paragraphs relating to carpet wools go over, with a view to securing some united action, but Mr. Vest, in an ironical speech, objected to delaying the era of prosperity and postponing the public business. While Republican senators held a caucus. Mr. Teller of Colorado also spoke against delay and took occasion to say he would never vote for the bill unless objectionable features were eliminated. Aside from this stormy interruption, fair progress was made on the wool schedule. The duty on first-class wool was agreed to at 10 cents per pound and on second-class wool 11 cents, which is between the House and Senate rates in each case. The rates on third-class wools went over. Most of the other amendments related to the classification of wools. On one of the amendments, Mr. Jones of Arkansas spoke against the entire schedule as severely oppressive on the consumers of woolen goods.

CANCER CURED

—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore begin to disappear and my general health improved. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.
